

The Best Companies to Work for in South Africa

As most of us come to find out, the best things in life are not things at all. And its something todays organisations and enterprises are starting to find out too. Money and status are not enough to attract the best employees, and theyre certainly not enough to keep them! Drawing on the resources of a top research and writing team, Corporate research foundation has identified the companies that, by listening to what people need, have managed to create happy, empowering and successful work environments. These multinationals, government agencies and large and small businesses from a variety of industry sectors have shown that when they say people are their most important assets, they mean it. This publication reveals the recruitment, training, empowerment and reward strategies of South Africas best employers, and shows that human capital does indeed provide a sound return on investment.
