

The Make Believe Dragon

In his imagination Guntor Toil creates a friend to help him in herding the kings sheep. His friend is a dragon and through the dragons powers Guntor over comes many obstacles. When The dragon becomes so real to Gunter, he feels his strengths are actually those of the dragon. When Gunter is called to leave his post as shepherd for the king and perform other more important duties, he must leave his friend behind. Gunter feels inadequate without his friend and it affects his own actions and his relationships with others. He is eventually required to face his dragon and finds his strengths are in fact his own. He becomes a changed man and succeeds even more on his own.
