

A Brief History of Panics: And Their Periodical Occurrence in the United States (Forgotten Books)

Panic is a sudden fear which dominates or replaces thinking and often affects groups of people or animals. Panics typically occur in disaster situations, or violent situations (such as robbery, home invasion, a shooting rampage, etc.) which may endanger the overall health of the affected group. The word panic derives from the name of the Greek god Pan, who was said to have the ability to cause extreme, irrational fear, especially in lonely or open places. Panic is also known as Anxiety. (Quote from wikipedia.org)About the AuthorJoseph Clement Juglar (1819-1905). Medico y economista frances. Publico Las crisis comerciales y su reaparicion periodica en Francia, Inglaterra y Estados Unidos (1862), donde demostro que las crisis economicas no son sucesos casuales o debidos a continencias, sino parte de una fluctuacion ciclica de la actividad comercial, industrial y financiera y que los periodos de prosperidad y crisis se seguian unos a otros, por lo que se considera el descubridor de los ciclos economicos. En reconocimiento a su trabajo estadistico, se ha dado su nombre al ciclo medio, de ocho anos y medio de duracion en promedio, el Ciclo de Juglar, el basico de la actividad economica en el capitalismo.
