

The Influence of Older Children on Younger Children

Have you ever wondered why so many Christian families are losing their children to the world? Here is one reason: By failing to win, disciple, guide, and protect the eldest children, fathers and mothers often find a multiplicity of sorrows and divisions within the home. On the other hand, wise parents who seek the help of the Lord and carefully shepherd their eldest children often enjoy blessed reinforcement and encouragement in the training of the younger children. In this practical and scriptural look at the biblical principles of children and mentorship., Dr. S.M. Davis draws from the Apostle John's letter to Gaius to illustrate how the actions of older siblings greatly influence the paths of younger children, for good or evil.
