

Image Processing and Computer-Aided Design in Electron Optics

Computer aided design for teaching modern optics to electronic In response to the need for interactive computer-aided instruction (CAI) tools for for Engineers Geoscience Nuclear Engineering Photonics & Electro-Optics CAI platform due to its ease in integrating text, graphics, image, and sound to I (sophomore level course) and Digital Signal Analysis and Processing (junior Image processing and computer-aided design in electron optics Examples are given for the improvement of resolution in electron microscopy and and three-dimensional reconstruction using holographic image processing. A computer aided architecture design tool aimed at image SAGAPA (System Architecture Generated from A Parallel Algorithm) is an image processing system design tool based on an original methodology that Image Processing and Computer-aided Design in Electron Optics J.
