

Cooperstown Tales - Book 3: Cronins Blunder

Cronins Blunder is book 3 in the Cooperstown Tales series of novellas. The fictional lives of Vance Winkles and Connie Gillis, introduced in books 1 and 2, are chronicled during the final two months of 1960. Vance, the sportswriter for the Cooperstown Gazette, attends the American League expansion draft in Boston and unsuspectingly overhears and records the mishandling and maneuvering of the selections by American League President, Joe Cronin. Connie, Cooperstown's Singing Waitress, finds a new connection with Vance through his improved ability at the piano. A New Years Eve chess game adds promise to their relationship
