

How To Survive a Breakup With The Love of Your Life

You were in a serious relationship with someone you really loved. They loved you, and you loved them. It was intense. Secure. Deep. It was also hard. Yet profound. Then you broke up. It has been a decade or two, and you have not really forgotten them. You moved on with your life, but somehow, their memories always come back. They are in the back of your mind during different periods in your life. You are unable to let them completely go. They may even have moved on with their life. They may not want anything to do with you anymore. You are unable to set yourself free completely. As a result of the trauma you suffered in the aftermath of this relationship, you may be terrified and panicked whenever a new relationship forms. You dream about them from time to time. You want to escape their hold on you. You are not successful in fully releasing them from your mind, heart.
