

Overcoming Fear, Worry and Anxiety: The Christian Life Now

Fear, worry, anxiety and stress. These were the things that occupied my mind day after day, month after month and year after year. I lived with fear, worry and anxiety for many years of my life because I was not a Christian. When I became a Christian I still experienced fear, worry, anxiety and stress because I was not living the Christian life. Its one thing to believe that Jesus Christ died for your sins, it is an entirely different thing to live out that belief. I allowed fear, worry, anxiety and stress to dictate how I felt day in and day out. I suffered from panic attacks. I would have high anxiety around large groups of people, avoiding large gatherings and events, and would often keep to myself because of the anxiety. These feelings of worry, stress and fear would keep me from engaging with other people. I was afraid of losing control of my emotions and that the stress and the worry and the anxiety would swallow me up. Perhaps the most fearful thought of all was the fact that nobody else understood what I was feeling. You see, I was lost not only in my own way of thinking, but until I was 37 years old I was lost to God. I was not saved until I was 37. And I would like to say that as soon as I was saved all my problems went away. I would further like to say that stress and anxiety and fear and worry all lifted off me the moment I said the prayer of salvation, but it didnt. I went for another two years lost in my own thoughts of fear, worry and anxiety because I was not living the Christian life to the fullest extent by the power of the Holy Spirit. Being a Christian is the first step to living a victorious life, but there are other steps we must take in order to overcome lifes challenges. In these pages you will find practical, easy to understand methods that are biblically based to point you in the right direction to overcoming fear, worry, anxiety and stress. Is this a cure-all? I dont believe in such a thing, at least not man-made. The methods I am going to share with you are God-made. However, they do employ the participation of a human being, that being you. The information I'm going to give you will present you with a choice: you can either be proactive in what you read here, or you can procrastinate. You see, you do play a very important part in your own Christian life. God wants to live through you, but you have to make room for Him. Thoughts of fear and worry, anxiety and stress crowd the Word of God out of our mind. When our minds are filled with things not of the Word of God, there is no room for Him to live in our minds. And, if God is not in our thoughts, then God is not in our actions. I want to help you help yourself. If you are not willing to take the steps necessary to get better, then no one can help you. I hope you take this with love, because it is truth. As the saying goes, the truth hurts. My truth was, for 37 years I didn't want help. I thought I was fine just the way I was. I wasn't. I thought I was happy. I wasn't. I thought I was in control. I wasn't. The reality of it was that I was afraid. I lived in constant worry, stress and fear along with anxiety controlling me. Looking back now I realize I was being held back; stress, anxiety and fear are emotions that put us in bondage. This type of bondage is one that can only be broken by the Word of God. Self-help motivational books only made a dent in these emotions of mine. But they lack one important factor: God. You see, without God, anything I tried to do came from my own strength, and that brought me right back to square one where I had to be in control in order to have victory. There was just one problem with that equation: I was not in control. I was never in control, God has always been in control. The problem was that I never acknowledged that fact. Let me be brutally honest, deep down in my spirit I knew I was fighting God. I wasn't accepting Him; rather, I was resisting Him, and when I resisted Him it brought on more fear and anxiety.
